Description
The text showing the selected file name or "No file selected" in the file upload field is clickable, but there is no visual indication (cursor change, underline, button style). Users may not realize it is interactive.

Steps to reproduce
> click on the text "No file selected" or a selected file name

Expected result
Only the "Select a file" button should open the file picker. If the text is clickable, it should have a clear visual cue (pointer cursor, underline, or button style).

Actual result
Clicking the text opens the file picker.
